Introduction

In 2007, a Sri Lankan company came into being with a vision of becoming a leader in the arena of premium teas. This was our beginning. With that goal in mind, we took a note from history, specifically imperial China, where the gifting of tea was a widespread custom. Taking this cue from Chinese dynasties, we forged ahead on our journey to face an uphill challenge to ultimately become a pioneer in the field by re-introducing a custom to the world, the art of gifting tea.

To see our objectives to fruition we opened a state-of-the-art manufacturing plant in Kelaniya, Sri Lanka and worked meticulously to offer the people what they craved for, a superior quality cup of authentic Ceylon tea. This in-depth understanding of people's needs gave birth to our superior-quality range of artistic teas that are contained securely in magnificently designed packages. With quality and innovation at our core, our range of teas has flourished and grown to a number that exceeds 200 unique blends and 500 retail products under our name. Awarded internationally for our quality standards, today our teas are enjoyed across the globe in over 75 countries as our brand has become synonymous with excellence. Achieving our goal, today we take pride in offering you a superior-quality cup of Ceylon tea with our brand, Basilur.

Basilur Tea

ESSENCE OF BASILUR

Since its inception, Basilur has set a standard of quality. The tea experts within our company constantly strive to ensure that each pack consists of authentic Ceylon tea of the utmost quality and our attention to detail guarantees the freshness of every cup. This quality standard has also received attention on a global platform earning Basilur much deserved international recognition.

At Basilur, innovation is given equal importance as the blend itself. Each pack has been carefully created to seal in freshness while maintaining a design elegance that's unique. Authentic Ceylon tea of the highest quality, contained in masterfully crafted packaging are the steps we at Basilur have taken to make the tea gifting culture a norm.

He is standing with his arms crossed, looking directly at the camera with a slight smile. The background is a soft-focus outdoor scene with greenery. A large, dark brown diagonal shape is overlaid on the left side of the image, serving as a background for the text.

The Chairman

Seasoned tea taster, medical doctor, humble industrialist and devoted family man are but a few words to describe Dr. Gamini Abeywickrama, the mastermind behind the premium tea brand, Basilur.

His dream of bringing back an age-old tea gifting culture, and re-introducing the world to authentic Ceylon tea, paved the way to establishing the premium tea brand Basilur in 2006. The award winning brand continues to grow with his expertise in tea, product innovation and creativity.

Director and Designer

Mr. Andrey Mareev, has been our Chief Creative Director, since the inception. An expert in Product Research & Development, Arts, Designing and Teaching, he possesses an innate ability to conceptualize unique ideas, that have defined our brand for over a decade.

Each product has been skilfully designed to express the key idea behind every collection, with much elegance. His deep understanding of different cultures and their artistry, remains a true reflection in his work, which continues to set us apart from the rest.

The Factory

We are a quality-oriented company with a sophisticated manufacturing plant, situated in Kelaniya, Sri Lanka. Well-equipped with the latest technology and seasoned professionals, we are continuously driven by best industry practices to maximize production standards.

In addition to the 'Grade A' Tea Tasters, and the state-of-the-art manufacturing plant, we are armed with an optimum in-house laboratory facility, which ensures consistent product safety. Reinventing the wheel at every turn, Basilur continues to introduce innovative solutions to the tea industry worldwide.

Sri Lanka

Nestled within the Indian Ocean, on the southern tip of India lies a tiny yet exquisite island, Sri Lanka that was formerly known as Ceylon. Aptly referred to as the pearl of the Indian Ocean, Sri Lanka hides many riches.

A history that dates back to the 3rd century, lush jungles that hide a myriad of wildlife, and scenic locales that range from the warm, palm-fringed beaches to cool, misty mountains make our island a treasure trove of discovery. Our nation is famed for its many offerings to the world but one takes precedence above all else; a small shrub that has generated interest for centuries and focused the world's attention on our tiny island, tea.

Ceylon Tea

The trademark of Ceylon tea is quality. A premise that arises from being the cleanest tea in the world. We keep to this promise by our harvesting technique, which employs manual labour and has remained unchanged since the arrival of tea cultivation in the nation. The knowledge passed down throughout the ages ensures that our tea pluckers pick only, the best top two leaves and bud of the plant every time. This practice has served us well since 1867, when James Taylor, a British planter planted the first tea plantation near Kandy at the Loolecondera Estate, thereby giving birth to the tea industry of the island.

Retaining the harvesting methods practiced since the inception of tea cultivation on the island has helped maintain the quality of our tea at a high standard. A standard which places Ceylon tea on par with the best in the world. Internationally recognized for its standard, Sri Lanka has a firm grasp on the highest share of the global tea export market to become the world's leading exporter of tea; a feat that contributes significantly to the country's GDP annually. Although small in size, the island has remained on top of the global tea scale with its ability to produce a varying variety of teas. This diversity is a direct result of the six notable tea cultivating regions. Nuwara Eliya, Dimbula, Radella, Uva, Kandy, and Ruhuna make up these six regions and each grows a leaf that produces a cup of tea with a distinct character and flavour. Pleasing diverse palates with supreme quality, it is no wonder that Ceylon tea has received high praise from tea connoisseurs the world over.

Tea Regions

The combination of climate, elevation, soil, and rainfall aid in building the distinguishable flavour characteristics of the tea within each of the six tea cultivating regions.

Uva

At an elevation between 3000 and 5000ft, Uva is the island's second-least populated province. The tea of the area, however, has a unique quality that has been acquired through its exposure to the winds of both the northeast and southwest monsoons. The relatively dry weather and the climatic balance of the slopes and valleys of the hills give Uva tea its distinguishable copper hue along with a mellowness and exotically aromatic quality which is highly prized by many around the world.

Dimbula

4000ft above sea level, located between two high plateaus lies one of the earliest districts to be planted with a "new crop" known as tea, the district of Dimbula. Drenched by the southwest monsoon for five months of the year and cooled by the dry western winds, the tea of this misty region is subtle. The mellow flavours of Dimbula tea, with hints of jasmine and cypress, echo the climate of its origin, offering a refreshing note with every golden-orange hued cup.

Ruhunu

Taking on the old Sinhalese name for the south of the island, Ruhuna is an area rich in history and legend. The tea of this region is cultivated at an elevation that does not exceed 2000ft above sea level. This southern variety has a strong, full-flavoured quality, while the deep dark tones of its black teas create a unique signature, distinct to the richness of the area; these qualities are much desired by tea drinkers of the Middle East.

Nuwara Eliya

Magnificent scenery surrounds the mountainous terrain of a region that brings the "champagne of Ceylon tea" to the world, Nuwara Eliya. The breezes are a mixed scent of eucalyptus and wild mint and at an elevation above 6000ft it cools the area; this combined with adequate rainfall and low temperatures give Nuwara Eliya tea its star-class flavour. Emphasizing its value, this delicately fragrant tea is gold-toned and much sought after. Connoisseurs regard Nuwara Eliya tea as one of the finest in the world, a reputation it has maintained to this day, with pride.

Kandy

Popularly known as the last kingdom of Sri Lanka is the region of Kandy. Located at an elevation between 2000 and 4000ft, in 1867 this region saw the birth of the Ceylon tea industry. The region is exposed to strong winds that are influenced by the southwest monsoons. Grown in valleys that are sheltered from these strong winds, the tea of Kandy is aromatic with a bright coppery tone and flavour that is uniquely and intensely full-bodied, making it a preference among many connoisseurs.

Radella

Situated in the Central province, tea was first planted in the region of Radella in 1896. The western slopes of the region, which stand at an elevation between 3500 and 5000ft are accustomed to relatively low temperatures and a cool climate that gives Radella tea its signature. The yellowish green tone of this brew with its distinct aroma and nutty flavour has made it one of the most preferred Green teas in the world.

Quote

"Each cup represents the serenity of each region. From the rich colours, to the invigorating flavour, from the mesmerizing taste notes to the spellbinding aroma, it truly is an authentic tea experience."

TEA GIFTING

In many cultures of the world, tea is consumed and enjoyed in ways that are specific to that country, with some having ceremonies to celebrate this special moment. In most cultures, this cherished brew when given as a gift says more than words, it echoes honour, respect and care. Universally, the drinking of tea is a joyous occasion. With every sip of tea, you feel the warmth as the bond between you and your loved ones strengthen or it awakens your mind to see potential in professional partnerships, whichever the reason we encourage this behaviour.

Our range of artistic teas and pack designs revolve around this ethos, to bring joy and togetherness in a celebratory fashion and when given as a gift, the recipient undoubtedly feels unique. Each of our packaging designs are inimitable as the blends that are contained within them. Each with their luxurious exterior tells a tale of ingredients, a region, a selection or a season. The Design Brand

The two components that have always been fundamental to our success are our tea and innovative designs. Combining these two elements masterfully, Basilur has breathed life into a culture lost to history, the culture of tea gifting. Our innovation in both our blends and our designs, both distinctly noticeable for its uniqueness have allowed us to differentiate ourselves from the rest on a global platform. Our tea specialists create blends with such attention to detail that their exceptional quality tantalizes the palates of tea connoisseurs the world over.

Our innovation in design has taken tea packaging to the outer reaches of luxury and exclusivity. Inspired by the changing of the seasons, by the origins of our teas, by the ingredients within, and by festive occasions, we have been led to craft each container with precision. Ornate, colourful, and joyous, our packaging designs lend themselves to a gift, you can't help but pick up. Our focus on quality and design in both product and package has caught the attention of the international tea aficionados continuously for over 10 years with awards and recognition being bestowed upon us each year. With this global encouragement, we forge our way to improve our brand and bring you one step closer to that perfectly designed gift of tea.
