

QUANTUM SPHERE

Quantum Sphere founded in 1998 and celebrating 25 years in business has grown into the market leader in Australia; distributing, warehousing and delivering tier-one branded audio-visual equipment to approved system integrators, resellers, installers, commercial clients and selected specialist audio-visual retailers.

As a distribution operation that continues to rapidly grow, Quantum Sphere has scalable warehousing facilities in most of Australia's capital cities. This allows us to stock and fulfil technology orders for our clients quickly, easily, reliably, and affordably.

Our head office and logistics command facility is located in Sydney's North Western Suburbs. In addition to wholesaling some of the industry's biggest brands, we own and operate two manufacturing plants in China that produce innovative commercial AV products. Marketed under our own 'Q-Tee' brand and now exported world-wide, this range encompasses brackets and mounts for flat screen TVs of all types, commercial carts/trolleys as well as projection screens, other forms of entertainment equipment and audio-visual furniture.

QSM was introduced in 2021 and continues to gain momentum in the Australian market. It provides premium quality Professional Business and Gaming IT Monitors that are manufactured to meet your requirements.

Quantum Sphere continues to benefit from recommendations and positive word of mouth. We have become known as a company that provides our clients with a complete, flexible and consistently excellent outcome. We're determined to maintain our good reputation by striving to deliver above expectation on every project we handle.
