ABOUT US

We believe in a more sustainable industry where cookware is not a disposable item and is not coated with questionable synthetics for a little extra consumer convenience.

We are committed to continuing to launch world-class cookware innovations that are better for you and for our planet. Cookware that will become treasured heirlooms, passed down for generations to come.

OUR VALUES

Health & Sustainability

We believe in an ethical and environmentally conscious approach to manufacturing and consumption. We design cooking tools that are made with such quality and integrity that they will last for centuries and never need to be replaced, saving millions of disposable pans from piling up in landfills. Our cookware is healthy, non toxic and free from any synthetic coatings or heavy metals.

Supporting Local Manufacturing

We're committed to supporting local industry and will always put people before profits. As the only production cookware made in Australia we are proud to be creating jobs for locals and to be helping revive Australia's dormant manufacturing industry.

Innovation

We only develop and manufacture products that we believe are the best of their kind, in the world – in performance, health, sustainability and durability.

Community

We do business differently. Our mission is so much greater and more important than just turning a profit. Supported by the crowd, we've built a community across the globe who are helping us lead a positive change for our planet through better cookware.

Solidtekknics are my go to pans every time, Australian made and built to last for generations! So much so that we have banned the use of non-stick pans across our venues. We use a lot of the range from Solidtekknics in all sorts of applications, the flaming skillet on charcoal grills and Jospo ovens, as well as nōni™ & AUS-ION™ across our stove tops. All are fantastic to work with and I love cooking with them. Do yourself a favour and stop using non-stick disposable pans! Buy Solidtekknics that last a lifetime instead! Better for your health ... and better for the environment.
