Show-Me Conference Strands

- Learning communities: Creating, sustaining, and evaluating school-based learning teams
- Data-driven learning: Using data to improve professional learning, instruction, curriculum, and assessment
- Professional learning processes/designs: Developing skills for planning, facilitating, presenting, and convening learning teams; and building collegial relationships
- The learning gap: Applying research-based strategies (e.g. differentiated instruction, RTI) to improve student performance in literacy, math, and/or science
- New-teacher support: Accelerating new-teacher competence and developing mentors
- Teacher leadership: Identifying, developing, and supporting teacher leaders
- Administrator development: Strengthening principal and central office instructional leadership and professional-development skills
- Outcomes of professional learning: Evidence of increased, more-engaged student learning through job-embedded, ongoing professional learning

Writing Guide

1. Prepare a draft of your responses to the questions. When you are ready, cut and paste your responses into the final proposal form.
2. Make sure your abstract offers a clear, concise description by addressing what participants can expect to learn and how they will benefit from your session. (These are used in the conference program as the session descriptions.)
3. Select content and processes that are appropriate for practitioners who attend this session. Conference attendees include mainly teachers, teacher leaders, PDC members, principals, and other leadership positions.
