

Health

Hunter New England
Local Health District

Hunter New England Local Health District Aboriginal Health and Cancer Services developing culturally safe resources for Aboriginal patients diagnosed with Cancer

Rose Wadwell
Aboriginal Health Unit

Acknowledgement to Country

I acknowledge the traditional owners of the land we meet on today and pay our respect to elders, past, present

WARNING: This presentation may contain images of, or have references to, deceased people. There may also be words or descriptions that could be culturally sensitive. This could upset some Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people; however HNELHD and Cancer Network wishes no disrespect or distress to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people, families and community.

Hunter New England Local Health District

Hunter New England Health (HNE Health) provides a range of public health services to the Hunter, New England and Lower Mid North Coast regions.

Kamilaroi, Gomilaroi, Geawegal, Bahtabah, Thungutti, Awabakal, Aniawan, Biripi, Worimi, Nganyaywana, Wonnarua, Banbai, Ngoorabul, Bundjalung, Yallaroi and Darkinung nations across Hunter New England

Why Cancer is a priority health issue for Aboriginal people

On average, around two Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Australians are diagnosed with cancer every day, with lung and breast cancer being the two most commonly diagnosed cancers.

Barriers that we already know exist for Aboriginal people based on consultations and community feedback include;

Community Awareness:

- Idea that cancer is a death sentence - Denial or fear to follow up symptoms
- Lack of clarity in community around causes, prevention and treatment
- Low health literacy around cancer – lack of information and resources; lack of Aboriginal representation in advertising and public health campaigns
- Lack of awareness and clarity around screening – what cancers you can screen for, how often, at what age, process, cost
- Lack of Culturally safe services – a place where my people feel safe.

What is HNELHD going to do about this ?

Strategic;

- Aboriginal Cancer Mapping Project 2013 – Kristy Crooks
- Incorporation of key Close the Gap measures into the Cancer Services Plan
- Establishment of a working party to progress recommendations from the Aboriginal Cancer Mapping Project to improve access to information and services for Aboriginal people diagnosed with cancer

Recommendations;

Aboriginal Cancer Project officer 12 months

Aboriginal Cancer Liaison Officer – 6 months

“A Cancer Journey” Booklets

- How was this done ?
- Why is it so successful ?

How was this done ?

3 Cancer Units within HNELHD

Engaging the Elders and Significant Community Members

- Engaging Elders and significant others is vital for the project to be successful
- Deliver what matters in their community, Aboriginal communities will access services that are culturally safe and supported by their communities

Sharing their Cancer Journey Stories

Aboriginal people, in fact all people should be treated with respect, they should never be made to feel that they are not valued, and therefore don't have a voice.

“Listen to your Patients”

Anthony Avery Junior

17th May 1982 – 2nd September 2008

“A Cancer Journey” Booklets

“A Cancer Journey” Booklets launches.

Outcomes:

3 Culturally safe “A Cancer Journey” Booklets

Sustainability;

- PDF version uploaded onto the HNELHD intranet
- Cancer hyperlink to all Aboriginal Cancer resources
- All HNELHD Aboriginal Health workers and Aboriginal Liaison officer’s have easy access to the booklets.

Results -Aboriginal Cancer Services Resources

HNE Aboriginal Cancer Service Resources Developed

The "My Cancer Journey" Booklets and videos have recently been launched at various sites across the District. The resources have been produced to improve the effectiveness of Aboriginal peoples journey through the health system for those that are affected by cancer related illnesses. The three resource booklets are targeted to specific communities GNC, Peel and LMNC Clusters, and includes the detail and contact information of local cancer services in the area.

The resources will assist in reinforcing the importance of health education and screening from an Aboriginal patient perspective. These booklets has been designed as a partnership approach between the HNE Aboriginal Health Unit, Cancer Services Network and local Aboriginal Community. The benefits of collaboration will be relationship building and trust which will have a flow on effect improving cultural respect, awareness and sensitivity between patients, clinicians and the local community.

You can access the booklet by clicking on the links below. Video Links are available Here: Video: Staff Welcome Video: A place of Healing
Video: Go and get your girls checked

If you would like more information on this project, please contact Aboriginal Health Unit Project Officer Rose Wadwell via email:
rose.wadwell@hnehealth.nsw.gov.au

Culture, Cancer, Caring Booklet- Inspiring stories for our Mob- AH&MRC

Yarning

Questions:

