THE FIRST INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON “SUSTAINABLE MATERIALS PROCESSING AND MANUFACTURING”

Skukuza, Kruger National Park, South Africa | January 23-25, 2017

INVITATION TO PARTNER

The 1st International Conference on Sustainable Materials Processing and Manufacturing will take place from 23 – 25 January 2017 at Skukuza, Kruger National Park. Hosted by the University of Johannesburg, this first time event aims to attract more than 200 international and local researchers, industry experts and decision makers, and we invite you to partner with us for this prestigious event.

The conference offers a 3 day programme on the latest information and technology and provides a platform to share best practice in the field of sustainable material processing and manufacturing

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

1. Academia
2. Policy makers
3. Researchers
4. Business community
5. Industrialists
6. Engineers
7. Students

This conference will provide a platform for academia, researchers, business community, industrialists, policy makers in government, engineers and students across the globe to exchange knowledge in the areas of sustainable materials processing and manufacturing, particularly technologies that holds promise for protecting the global environment from heavy energy consumption and conserving natural resources during manufacturing. The pathway towards addressing the challenges of sustainable manufacturing for improved sectoral contribution to international/national economy from both the political and technological perspectives would equally be explored.
