

Fran is the Understanding Dementia MOOC academic coordinator. She is a registered nurse with postgraduate qualifications in applied science, sociology and public health. Her clinical, education and research practice is located in the fields of aged and palliative care. Her interests include dementia care, community responses to death and dying, and developing links between aged and palliative care. Fran's research uses methods that enhance understandings of practice and practice change in health care.