INVITATION TO PARTICIPATE

In 2023, facilities management industry professionals will come together to strengthen industry knowledge at Ideaction.23, the Facilities Management National Conference and Exhibition.

As an employer of over 200,000 people, the facilities management industry contributes over $32 billion annually to the Australian economy and with an ever-changing landscape of technology, materials and regulations, coupled with the need to meet occupiers expectations; keeping your skills and knowledge up to date is crucial to unlocking value in the built environment.

Ideaction.23 will be held on the Gold Coast which is set to be home for the 2032 Olympic Games, a great opportunity to take advantage of the location as the development of key facilities for the Games advance.

The theme for Ideaction.23, 'Securing Our Future', conveys the message that the future is now and we need to be confident in our forever changing role as Facility Managers. The facilities management industry is proactively approaching issues such as: advances in technology, changes to legislation, the move to net zero buildings and shifts in community expectation, to secure the future of the built environments.

As valued members of the facilities management community, our sponsors and exhibitors come together again and form an integral part of the conference. We also look forward to seeing a variety of industry professionals passionate about the facilities management industry exchanging information and discussing industry issues.

It is certainly recognised that your commitment and support form an essential contribution to the success of the Ideaction series, and we look forward to reuniting with our long-term sponsors, as well as welcoming new ones.

This document outlines the variety of levels of involvement you can achieve through a selection of sponsorship packages. However, if there are other ways you would like to participate in Ideaction.23, we would be more than happy to consider your suggestions.

I hope you can join the team and your potential clients at Ideaction.23 on the Gold Coast.
