

NATIONAL CONVENTION BUREAU

27 May 2015

Prof Claudine Storbeck
The Centre for Deaf Studies, Director
Director
Wits University

Dear Prof Storbeck

Support for the Johannesburg Convention Bureau and the Wits Centre for Deaf Studies to host the 1st Family Centred Early Intervention Conference - FCEI Africa, in Johannesburg, South Africa in 2017

As the Chief Convention Bureau Officer of the South Africa National Convention Bureau (SANCB), it gives me great pleasure to support the Johannesburg Convention Bureau and Wits Centre for Deaf Studies to host the 1st Family Centred Early Intervention Conference - FCEI Africa in Johannesburg in 2017.

South Africa is an extraordinary country with a fascinating cultural mix, a powerful history of reconciliation and nation building, and some of the world's greatest experiences to offer. South Africa has the most advanced economy and infrastructure in Africa offering a wide variety of excellent transportation, logistics, communication and financial services. This is supported by international standard accommodation and facilities to suit every requirement for the 2017 FCEI Africa Conference.

Johannesburg and the greater Gauteng province are well-equipped with meetings and events related infrastructure and offers easy access to various amenities within the region. To ensure that you deliver on a successful event in Johannesburg, the SANCB will contribute two economy class flights for a site inspection if required, a delegate boosting package as well as an on-site event services package.

I look forward to welcoming you and your delegates of the Family Centred Early Intervention Conference - FCEI Africa to South Africa in 2017.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read "Amanda Kotzé-Nhlapo". The signature is written in a fluid, cursive style.

Amanda Kotzé-Nhlapo
Chief Convention Bureau Officer