

Nelson Sizwe Madonsela is a DPhil candidate in Engineering Management at the University of Johannesburg, South Africa. He is a lecturer at the Faculty of Engineering and the Built Environment, Department of Quality and Operations Management. His research is situated in the field of Business Intelligence (in the public sector) & Operations Management, with a particular focus on operational excellence. He also specialises in adoption and implementation of information technology (IT) in both manufacturing and service sectors. Nelson has presented conference papers locally and internationally as well as a book chapter. He supervises master's students in the field of Operations Management.