2. SAFEST FORM OF TRANSPORTATION

Did you know that according to the National Transportation Safety Board, school buses are the safest vehicles on the road, and one of the safest modes of transportation overall. In fact, children are much safer traveling in school buses than in any other vehicle, whether they're going to and from school, a field trip, or a sporting event. They are even safer riding in a school bus than in a car with their parents or caregivers.

During National School Bus Safety Week, consider joining one of the largest job sectors in America by applying for a school transportation position today. Learn valuable skills, serve your community and help the next generation receive their education.

3. RED LIGHTS MEAN STOP

Motorists who are careless put riders in danger. We can do better for our children by not driving aggressively, watching for upcoming school zones and not texting and driving while focusing on the road.

In Pennsylvania, motorists must stop at least 10 feet away from school buses that have their red lights flashing and stop arm extended. Motorists must stop when they are behind a bus, meeting the bus or approaching an intersection where a bus is stopped.
